ENTERTAIN COLEMAN GROUP

On Tuesday, April 22, a social evening was held in the United church auditorium when Blairmore Young People entertained the Coleman, First side group, welcomed by Rev. McKelvey. Two films from the library of the Alberta Film Board were shown by Constable Shields. After a few "get-acquainted" games, a supper was enjoyed. While the food settled the party was entertained by president Art. Williams who proved that the hand was quicker than the eye. The evening was concluded by two hours of dancing to a variety of music. A good time was enjoyed by all present.

Anyone who wishes to attend is cordially invited to come to the United church auditorium Tuesday evening at 8:30.

NEW TRAFFIC CONTROL FOR ALASKA HIGHWAY

New control plans are being worked out for the Alaska highway, according to information received by the Alberta Motor Association.

Apparently tourist travel restrictions will not be removed this year. These will be administered by the RCMP which has been charged with the responsibility of enforcing regulations which formerly were handled by the Alaska highway traffic control board.

Various details are being worked out by the responsible federal officials. One of the changes will be to have the travel permits issued by the police at Blueberry, BC, which is 50 miles up the highway from Fort St. John, or 401 miles from Dawson Creek, the southern end of the highway.

While the police still will make inspections as to the roadworthiness of cars before permits are issued, it is understood that certain changes in regulations are under consideration and will be announced shortly.

Meantime, there is no doubt that large numbers of U.S. tourists are planning to drive north over at least part of the highway this year.

Recently it was reported that travel scouts for U.S. agencies already have arrived at Edmonton and other Alberta points and are assembling information on the season's prospects covering accommodations and gas station services.

PRESCRIPTION DRUGS

Unless armed with medical prescriptions, Canadians cannot buy some drugs over a drug store counter. Health authorities, who have drawn up, and enforce, regulations to protect health in this field, explain that such restrictions are essential.

Such drugs, they say, have a very narrow margin between what is effective and what is positively dangerous. Further, the unregulated use of such medicines could lead to conditions which may progress to a serious degree before the sufferer is aware of them.

Funeral service was conducted by Dean M. A. Harrington at St. Anne's church on Monday morning for Luigi Denotaris who passed away at the week end following a lengthy illness. A native of Italy, Mr. Denotaris conducted his own shoe repair business in Blairmore for a number of years, retiring a couple of years ago owing to ill health.

BE SURE OF SUCCESS by serving Maxwell House Coffee. It's packed two ways. In Super-Vacuum Tin (Drip and Regular Grinds) and Glassine-Lined Bag (All Purpose Grind).

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

X. C. Kaupp, proprietor of the Cowley Hotel, is building an addition of two rooms at the back of the structure, being a decided improvement.

Rev. Cyril Clarke and Mesdames Dick Lynch-Staunton, Robert Laidlaw Charley Carawell and Corbett Lynch-Staunton of Pincher Creek were to attend the Anglican church tea on Saturday afternoon, April 19.

Mrs. Jack Douglass, of Maycroft, returned home on Friday from Calgary, where she spent some time visiting relatives and friends.

Old friends here will be glad to learn that Mrs. Jack Kemmis, who had the misfortune to break a hip bone through a fall on the basement steps of her home in Calgary, on Wednesday, April 16, is progressing favorably in the General Hospital there.

Ralph Michalsky, of Burnis, who was visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Elton suffered a serious accident on Friday, when a horse he was riding stumbled and fell, pitching the lad clear of the saddle, sustaining a compound fracture of a shoulder bone in the fall. He was rushed to hospital in Calgary for medical treatment.

A well attended tea sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of the Anglican church was held in the Masonic hall on Saturday afternoon, April 19. Tea tables were gay, dressed in fancy linen and flowered china. The handsome sum of around $300.00 was realized.

Mrs. W. W. Parry, returned on Wednesday from a six-week visit with near relatives at points in the States of Wisconsin and Nebraska. She reports an enjoyable time.

Vegetable gardens are being put in readiness here this week by tilling, etc., and the harder seeds are being put in the ground. A snowfall on Monday has delayed the early seeding of field crops.

HEALTH TECHNIQUE

Declaring that it took timing and teamwork to put the "U" in triumph for the Allies in the war, national health authorities submit that the same technique suit health to a "U" too. They explain here is perfect teamwork in the coordination of the bodily functions. Timing, as translated into regularity in eating, working and sleeping, enables all the processes of living to fulfill their respective roles with the precision and ease essential to fullest physical well-being.

A farmer drove into town to visit his doctor. "Doc," he said, "the first time you're out our way I wish you'd stop in and see my wife." "Is she sick?" "Not exactly." "What's the trouble, then?" "Well, yesterday morning she got up at the regular time, about 4 o'clock, milked the cows, got breakfast for the hands, done her housework, churred, and along about 10 o'clock at night she said she felt a bit tired. I expect she needs a tonic or something."—Rotary Club Bulletin, Yonkers, New York.

TENNIS CLUB PLAN THREE NEW COURTS

The second meeting of the Blairmore Tennis Club took place in the Union hall in Blairmore, on Wednesday, April 23. The use of the hall was appreciated by the club members. The president of the club is Mr. Frank Morgan, the vice-president Miss Joyce Millett and the secretary-treasurer is Miss Rita Bonneau. The honorary president is Mr. Bird and the honorary vice-president is Councilor Williams.

The meeting was called to order at 8:15 with 15 present out of the 65 who signed their names to the petition.

Mr. Lloyd Pinkney, Miss Peggy MacPherson and Miss Ruth Mackay were elected as the General Committee to assist the executives with their work.

The south side of the arena was picked as the site for the three courts. The town is contemplating on furnishing the labor for the hard-surfacing which will take place about May 15 and will mean that the opening date for the courts will be around May 24 to June 1.

During a meeting of the Blairmore Community Sports Association which was attended by Mr. Frank Morgan, the president, the club received $125 to be used on this project. Another $125 was also promised from the Blairmore Miner's Union. $300.00 is the estimated cost of erecting these courts.

The Elks and Lions clubs will be approached for further help.

It was decided that in time the club would be incorporated into the Blairmore Balminton and Teanila club with a suggested fee of $3.00 per person for a season with reduced membership fees for junior members. Family memberships and members of the Blairmore Community Sports Association.

The meeting was closed in good order at 9:15.

VALUE OF LIVER

Canada's Food Rules, issued from Ottawa, recommend servings of liver, at least once a week, for health reasons. They declare that few foods are more nutritious than liver, which gives essential food elements at least equal to those in other meats.

Also, liver provides vitamin A for growth and protection against infection, riboflavin, essential for general good health; and iron, needed for formation of red blood cells.

A LEGEND OF THE MOUNTAIN

By Mildred Holstead

At no other time of the year are the Canadian Rockies more beautiful or picturesque than at the present time, dressed in their winter colors and with snow-capped peaks wrapped in a veil of mist. Do we residents of the Pass admire and study them enough? They have become a part of our everyday life, and no doubt we do not appreciate this wonderful scenery as we should. Do we sometimes gaze at the beautiful, state-ly Crow's Nest Mountain and wonder what was the origin of its name?

This legend of Crow's Nest Mountain was told to me by the Indians, and the Indians keep no data of records of time, as far as they know the events took place before 1870.

A war party of Kootenay Indians came to the Crow Indian country to hunt buffalo and steal horses from the Crow tribe. One of the young Kootenay braves took a fancy to a young Crow maiden, the daughter of a chieftain. He tried in vain to persuade her to leave her tribe and lover and go with his fellowmen.

One dark night the thief, that of the Crow tribe, was heard of in the excitement the young Kootenay stole the maiden away and vanished. Her Crow lover pursued two of his comrades to go with him in search of his lady-love and try to rescue her. They followed the trail of the Kootenay into the heart of the Rocky Mountains, and there, by the side of a big lake, the Crow sighted the enemy camp.

Scouting around, and keeping under cover of trees and bushes, the Crow brave and comrades waited. At last, one evening, he saw the maiden accompanied by an old Kootenay squaw, come to the lake to dip water. The Crow crouched lower in the shrubs, and after a while, the maiden, the brave took a piece of badger skin from his moccasins—a piece of the maiden's own handwork—and left it on the shore.

The next evening the maiden came again to the lake. She spied the piece of torn moccasin and, quickly recognizing it, knew that her Crow lover was in hiding near by.

That night, when the moon rose over the mountain, and all the world was quiet, with campfires burning low at the Kootenay lodge, the young Crow fired the camp. The maiden met her lover at the lake shore, where he had two moccasins hidden, and they made good their escape.

A couple of days' travel and the Crow brave and the maiden reached the foot of a very high mountain. The brave thought they could ascend the mountain and fire down on the enemy if necessary. So, leaving their horses, they climbed higher and higher until they reached the top. The Kootenays had picked up the trail and followed them up the Elk River to Michel Creek. Day after day the war cries grew nearer, until at last the pursuers encircled the mountain. For two days the brave and the maiden rested on the mountain top, praying to the great Manitou to spare them from the enemy. But finally their supply of food and ammunition gave out.

They knew their doom—either to be taken alive and tortured, or to eat their own lives. They made their choice. The brave took the Death Song, they threw themselves over the precipice. Thus, to this day we have the "Crow's Nest" mountain.

A Kootenay Indian, hearing the low hum of the breeze through the mountains will say, "Ugh! The Death Song of the Crow Lovers."

Rev. J. McKelvey left this week for Toronto where he will attend the United Church General Council representing the board of Overseas Missions. Mrs. McKelvey accompanying him as far as Winnipeg where she will visit friends and relatives.

WILL SOON ISSUE

100,000 ROAD MAPS

More than 100,000 "strip" or sectional road maps will be issued shortly by the Alberta Motor Association. Now that Alberta is preparing for a big tourist year, with the biggest road building program in its history in sight, the demand for these maps will be of record proportions.

The AMA has followed the policy of providing sectional maps that are of great value to motorists. They are checked with the public works department in order that the latest official information is given as to road mileage, type of road surfacing and other data.

These maps also contain listings of the official appointments of the AMA in the region for which the map is issued. These show hotels, camps, garages and service stations, and all other essential information required by motorists.

There is a large distribution of these "strip" maps to branches of the AMA in Edmonton, Calgary and Lethbridge, and to all official appointments.

Boards of trade chambers of commerce and various travel agencies also are adequately supplied.

THE TRUCKERS' TRADE

MARK IS HUB

Tastes in color vary according to the individual and nowhere is this more strikingly apparent than among the fleet operators. More and more owners of trucking fleets have adopted certain colors for their truck units as advertising trade marks. Other commercial firms using trucks or van type units have followed the lead. There are now hundreds of such truck colors ranging from gaudy purple of florists' delivery trucks to the flaming red of some of the large oil companies.

Unusual combinations of color have been used effectively on their transport units by a number of Canadian motor fleet companies. The combination of such colors as yellow and red, orange and black, red and green have been found to be natural for attracting public attention.

Oil companies' tank trucks usually use the gayest colors, although meat packers and soft drink distributors also use bright hues. Dairy trucks are often painted white or cream as a natural tie-in with the products which they carry.

HANGING CLOTHING

As a health measure, Ottawa authorities recommend, tidiness. They declare that neatness and orderliness are essential to a healthful environment and sanitation.

"Put clothes on hangers when you take them off" advise the doctors. "That allows them to air properly, and also improves the appearance of closet or clothes-dress." They also suggest that there will be fewer accidents in the home if things are put away, and not left where people can trip over them.

Mrs. F. A. Short of Calgary, Secretary of Coleman, announces the engagement of her daughter, Frances Elizabeth Alberta, to Mr. John Alexander Dunbar, of Calgary. The marriage will take place May 17 at 7:30 p.m. at Scarborough Avenue United church.

The Need For Fats And Oils

A LARGE NUMBER OF SHORTAGES which were experienced because of the war are disappearing gradually, as production returns to normal levels. Some things, however, continue to be in very short supply, and food has remained high on the list of things which are still scarce. In Canada we have been fortunate in having had no acute food shortage at any time, but lack of certain items has caused considerable inconvenience both to producers and to consumers. For some time now there has been a marked shortage of fats and oils, in edible form, in the form of soap, and in products used for industrial purposes. This condition is not a local one, but is a part of a chronic world shortage of fats and oils, the seriousness of which is illustrated by the fact that last year, the world production was estimated at some 3,000,000 metric tons, as compared with the annual pre-war output of 6,500,000 tons.

More Must Be Produced Here

Adding to the gravity of the situation is the great increase in the need for fats and oils, because of the growing population and greater industrial activity in many countries. Lined flax alone, statistics show, was produced last year in sufficient quantity to supply only fifty-eight per cent. of the demand for it. At the present rate of consumption experts believe that it will be three or four years before the world supply will be equal to the amount of fats and oils now required to meet the needs of all the nations. If the situation in Canada is to be improved in the near future authorities on agriculture are of the opinion that a great deal more flax seed and linseed must be produced here and thrown into the world pool. This would give Canada bargaining power to obtain fats and oils which cannot be produced at home.

World Council Asks For More

Many of these points were discussed at the recent annual meeting of the National Barley and Linseed Flax committee held in Winnipeg. At that time Mr. F. H. Leberg, Dominion oils and fats administrator drew attention to the fact that the Emergency Food Council, which directs the distribution of fats and oils, had urged that Canada grow more flax this year. It was estimated that at least 20,000,000 bushels of flax should be produced here, to trade for the supplies of edible oils and soap fats which we will require. In previous years flax production has been some 3,000,000 bushels less than the proposed figure and it is apparent that special encouragement should be given to farmers to interest them in raising the annual output of this important crop. Mr. T. J. Harrison, chairman of the Barley and Linseed Flax committee suggested that many farmers might be interested in making flax a standard crop in rotation. Although it is generally regarded as a discouraging crop, it is to be hoped that a small acreage of flax will be sown on many farms, and that the total harvest will be sufficient to make Canada's contribution to the world pool of fats and oils an appreciable one.

MAGNET USED TO REMOVE NEEDLE FROM GIRL'S THROAT

PITTSBURGH — A three-quarter inch magnet, suspended by a string down the throat of a 16-year-old girl, painlessly removed a two-inch sewing needle she had swallowed, doctors at the University of Pittsburgh Medical School reported.

Pitt medical attaches said surgery was impossible because the girl has diabetes. Doctors got in touch with Westinghouse Electric Corp. scientists, who compounded the magnet out of a new metal alloy.

PRINCESS GIVEN FIVE DIAMONDS

EAST LONDON.—Princess Elizabeth's personal Standard was broken for the first time in a Dominion when she opened the new £2,500,000 graving dock in this Cape Province port.

During the ceremony the Princess was presented by Mrs. Sturrock, wife of the South African Minister of Transport, with her first gift from South Africa, five diamonds, valued at £3,700, to mark a fair brooch.

Princess Elizabeth went through the long public function—her first appearance in South Africa on her own—with great composure and obvious enjoyment, her flushed cheeks at the outset being the only sign of nervousness. To a crowd of more than 30,000 she said:

"This is a young country and you have a tremendous heritage—a big country waiting to be developed, rich in the enterprise of its people and in mineral and natural resources."

"From what I have seen in South Africa I know the present generation of young people assure a great and happy future for their country."

"I wish them success and strength to solve the problems with which they will be confronted."

Idleness Cause Of Delinquency

The juvenile delinquency is based on the assumption that boys who get into trouble are boys who have nothing else to do. It is a wise parent who encourages his sons to put their hands to useful things. He will go to some trouble to provide whatever they need to pursue the instinct of self-expression in the making of things. Countless men, so encouraged in youth, find that skills then acquired become sources of gratification through life. Needless to say, young builders are not conspicuous for the delinquents in their ranks.—Detroit News.

BRITAIN SELLS TURKEY 500 FIGHTER 'PLANES

LONDON.—The Ministry of Supply confirmed a report that 500 British fighter 'planes have been sold to Turkey and are being delivered by R.A.F. pilots. The sale was understood to be connected closely with the proposed American loan to Turkey.

Spitfires, Mosquitos and Beaufighters were included among the 'planes sold. Some had been declared obsolete, but none was on the British list of "surplus" planes.

Britons Take Their Soccer Seriously

LIVERPOOL.—Britons take their soccer football seriously. A mile-long queue for tickets for a semi-final match between Liverpool and Burnley in the Football Association Cup race stamped recently. BACKACHE The Plague of Outdoor Men

The outdoor man, whether he be farmer, truck driver, or railway operator, is often subject to backache. This may be the result of exposure to cold and dampness or the result of strain from the jolting and bumping of the vehicle he rides.

To many people, women as well as men, it would be great to be free of backache—one of the most common and annoying of ailments. And here is how you may be relieved of backache and other symptoms of poisons in the blood.

The treatment suggested is Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills. By reason of their stimulating action on both the liver and kidneys, you have two chances to one of getting relief from your backache by using Dr. Chase's Pills. The torpid liver is aroused to action, the kidneys are stimulated and consequently these organs help to purify the blood of the poisons which bring pains and aches and tired feelings.

OLD-TIMERS AT THE ZOO

England's winter temperatures are much too low for the big tortoises, natives of southern and western lands, who live at the Regent's Park Zoo in London. So an electric heater is provided in the centre of their enclosure, and about it the faint reptiles crowd to keep warm.

In general English usage, species which live on land are called tortoises, while those which spend most of their time in water are known as turtles. The latter have webbed feet and their shells are not so high and dome-shaped as those of the tortoise family. The tortoises are clumsy in the water, and sometimes live in the most unexpected places in dry desert lands.

One of the most remarkable facts about the tortoises is the great age to which the larger species live. One of these old chaps in the London zoo is more than one hundred and fifty years old, and some are said to live for three centuries! It seems almost incredible, but is probably true, that some specimens still alive in remote South Sea islands actually were hatched from an egg at the time of the Civil War in England or during the early days of New France!

The ability of the giant tortoise to live for months without food may have helped some individuals to survive hard times and attain to a great age; but strangely enough, it also brought the species close to extinction in some parts of its former natural range.

For crews of old-time sailing vessels which ventured into the remote waters of the South Seas found in the tortoises and ideal source of fresh meat for long voyages. Some of the giant tortoises reach astonishing dimensions, measuring up to four feet in length and weighing as much as six hundred pounds.

According to a recent issue of the Alberta Gazette, two months from March 31, G. E. Cruickshank Ltd., will be struck off the register and the company dissolved.

THE BIRTH OF ST. PATRICK

On the eighth day of March it was, some people say, That St. Patrick at midnight he first saw the day; While others declare it was the ninth he was born.

And it was all a mistake between midnight and morn. For mistakes will occur in a hurry and thick.

And some blame the baby and some blamed the clock, Till with all their cross questions, sure, no one could know

If the child was too fast, or the clock was too slow.

Now the first faction fight in old Ireland they say,

Was all on account of St. Patrick's birthday;

Some fought for the eighth, for the ninth, more would die,

At last both the factions so positive grew

That each kept the birthday, so Pat then had two.

Till father Mulcahy, who showed them the way,

Said no one could have two birthdays, but a pair of twin.

Says he, "Boys, don't be fighting for eight or for nine;

Don't be always dividing, but sometimes combine:

Combine eight and nine, seventeen is the mark;

So let that be the birthday." "Amen," says the clerk,

"If he wasn't a twin, sure our history will show

That at least he is worth two saints

My neighbor John Williams was talking the other day about how important our export trade is to us.

"You know, Don," he said, "a lot of Canadians don't realize what it means to have world markets for our grain and hogs. But history shows now that not even the strongest countries can get along without selling to others."

Well, I agreed with John all right, but I reminded him it isn't only a matter of produce like grain and hogs. Especially to us, the things called "invisible" exports like the tourist trade and life insurance are vital too.

"Did you know that about 40 per cent of all the life insurance with Canadian companies has been sold to people outside Canada—in 64 other countries? No other country 'exports' that much life insurance. Our companies must be pretty famous for their efficiency and their safety."

Life Insurance is a business built for everybody, a great enterprise which protects the future of more than four million policyholders and their loved ones. Life Insurance offers a systematic and easy way to save. Consult an authorized agent about a plan best suited to your requirements.

SCHOOL LUNCHES

Consideration of the noon-day school lunch as an important contribution to a child's success at school is recommended by Ottawa health authorities. A child's progress in school and his interest in studies, may be affected by the type of lunch he gets.

Nutrition officials of the national health department point out that a good lunch for the school-age youngster should include milk, meat or meat alternate, whole wheat or Canada approved bread, and a fruit or vegetable.

HOW IT BEGAN

In the early days of printing much of the work was done by monks. As a result the printers' terminology is still full of church works.

The composing room is still the "craquel" and has "galleys." A case of type is called a "font" because holy water fonts were used as type receptacles. The small truck into which used type is dumped is still the "bell box" and the apprentice is a "devil." In addition there are hundreds of words like stet, dale, quod, foils, octavo, etc., which the printer monks took from the Latin they were so accustomed to using.

We in Canada have now come through the hardest part of the post-war adjustment period. By buying in moderation only what we really needed, by resisting the natural desire to rush madly after long-absent luxuries, we have been able to keep prices at reasonable levels.

We have been able—so far—to escape the strife and the uselessness of inflation. Knowing where we want to go, we have also known how to get there.

Credit for this lies with the foresighted planning of our Government—the wisdom of the people—and the Canadian habit of moderation in all things, which as The House of Seagram has long maintained, is unquestionably one of this country's finest assets.

SHAW CLASSES HIMSELF AS THREE-QUARTER GHOST

LONDON.—George Bernard Shaw believes he is three-quarters of a ghost already, according to an interview published by the Psychic News. Shaw said he did not believe in ghosts, but added that "you are talking to a man who is three-quarters of one." Asked for his views on survival after death, he said:

"To me, belief in individual survival is a horror. To realize that, think not of your own individual survival, but of mine. Imagine GBS going on for centuries. Could you bear it?"

LADY NATHAN SAYS NO MORE VITAL JOB THAN FAMILY CARE

LONDON.—When people tell Lady Nathan she has a "big job" on her hands she invariably replies: "So has every other housewife."

She is now chairman of the influential London County Council—the second woman chairman in the council's history—but in addition to her 40-hour week of meetings and committees she is a housewife still, and proud of it.

"There is no more vital job in Britain today than the housewife's," she said in an interview.

"Britain's future depends as much on women as on men, for with men taking most of the production strain women must give them every ounce of support they can. They can do this

GARDEN NOTES

Don't Rush!

Two of the commonest mistakes of the amateur gardener are the one of limited experience, are planting far too much too soon and not planting enough in late May and June. During the first warm weeks of spring practically every human being has the urge to get out and dig. He rushes to the nearest seed store, gets supplies and is liable to put in a whole lot of things which should never be planted until the soil and air warm up permanently.

This too-early planting, also, has another disadvantage. Usually all seed or space is used up too soon and even if weather is favorable the result is too many vegetables ready for the table in July, not nearly enough remaining in August and September.

The experienced gardener will always divide his seed into at least three parts, sowing the first a little ahead of the regular planting time, putting in the second about the normal time, and saving the last until at least two or three weeks after that. This gives him a continuous supply of the very freshest vegetables right through the season.

Keep Planting!
At the risk of repetition too much stress cannot be laid on continuous planting of the standard vegetables like lettuce, radish, beans, carrots, beets, corn, etc. All of these will taste much better when they just begin to reach proper maturity. Most of them, especially the beans, lettuce, corn and such things, begin to get tough if left too long. The only way to assure a proper succession is to keep planting them. It is far better, old gardeners say, to have several rows of them coming on two weeks apart than all at one time. In most parts of Canada it is quite possible to keep planting many vegetables right up to mid-July.

To Make Ideal Soil.
While a natural, rich, open loam makes the best garden soil it is possible to make practically any type suitable.

With both clay and sand, cultivation, plus the incorporation of rotted vegetable matter, will work wonders. One of the best treatments, of course, is plenty of barnyard manure, but this is not always available, especially so in urban locations. Good substitutes are vegetable refuse like tops of beets, carrots, pea pods, lawn clippings, etc., or specially sown green oats, rye or clover dug or plowed under. With clay this opens up the soil and makes it more easily workable, less inclined to bake. With sandy ground, the manure or vegetable material adds strength and helps it retain moisture.

by taking that little extra care of the worker—especially the night worker—and by giving their children the kind of home that will mean so much to them in later life.

"They have to do this in spite of the strain that every British housewife has to endure these days."

As the wife of Lord Nathan, Civil Aviation Minister, and the mother of a family, children and education are her particular interests. She urges more nursery schools, not only to release mothers who are needed in industry, but "to give children between three and four years the advantages of early school training."

Another of her ambitions is to see the "all-purpose" school established throughout London—a school housing all types of children, learning all kinds of subjects in separate departments under the same roof.

Lady Nathan also advocates play centres and recreation grounds, and says she would like to see some of the sites of London's bombed buildings converted into parks and open spaces.

"There is no reason why in rebuilding London we should reproduce past errors. Now, through the war, we have a chance to make London a better and happier place in which to live. During my years as chairman I hope to see some progress towards creating a new London. And after that I shall still go on working for it."

The leaves of a mature maple tree will manufacture 3,650 pounds of carbohydrates in a single summer.

YOUNG WIFE STOLE AUTO TO SLEEP IN

LOS ANGELES.—A navy veteran's young wife, who grew tired of sleeping with her baby in motion picture houses and public parks, admitted that she stole an automobile so she would "have some place to lie down at night."

Mrs. Nyra Borgessa, 21-year-old wife of a pharmacist's mate credited with killing 200 Japs, said the housing shortage had forced her and the 17-month-old baby to live in the auto for two months.

"It seems nobody wants a baby," she said. "Not even a hero's baby." Her husband, Charles, 22, awarded the Purple Heart and holding a Presidential Unit Citation, was sentenced to jail last December for stealing another automobile to use as a family home. He escaped from a court room camp and now awaits arraignment on the escape charge.

Housecleaning Drives "Empties" Into the Open

Housewives Join Search For E. B. Bottles.

Hundreds of housewives in Alberta's rural and urban districts are reported today to be co-operating in the extensive search to apprehend E. B. Bottles, missing from duty for several months.

"Bottles", commonly known by the full name of "Empty Bear Bottles" and also under the alias of "Empties", may be hiding out in closets, basement corners or attics. Housewives in their spring cleaning drive are searching these favorite haunts of "Bottles" in an effort to bring the fugitive to justice. A reward of 20 cents per dozen of "Empties" is offered by Deliveries Ltd.

An acute situation still exists in regard to the shortage of Bottles in Brewing Industry.

Deliveries Limited, agents for Alberta Breweries, reports present shortages are due solely to "Bottles" disappearance from work. "Empties" cannot be replaced at this time and anyone knowing the whereabouts of "E. B. Bottles" is urged to communicate with their nearest Deliveries Limited Depot at Edmonton, Calgary, Lethbridge, Medicine Hat, Banff, Blairmore, Camrose, Drumheller or McLean.

CASH REWARD

In Alberta cities, arrangements have been made for taking "Bottles" into custody and paying reward at the householder's home. At rural points, local freight agents will see that "Bottles" is escorted "Collect" to the nearest Deliveries Ltd. Depot and cash reward will be mailed immediately on recovery.

HUMAN STORY

Even if a book can not be judged by its cover, health experts at headquarters in Ottawa suggest, that appearance is a guide to one's physical condition. They suggest, too, that a careful study be made of the human "table of contents", with the advice of a medical practitioner trained to "read between the ribs". Such a review, they point out, will give people an insight into their own body's story and a clue to measures which may be necessary to ensure complete well-being.
